

Welcome

.....to the Institute for Future Agricultural Leaders!

The basic purpose of this seminar is to develop an understanding of the nature and needs of the agricultural industry, including career opportunities; an understanding of basic and applied science in agriculture; leadership, social and recreational skills; and an awareness of emerging technical areas in agriculture and agribusiness.

Kentucky Farm Bureau and the University of Kentucky welcome you as a conference attendee. We urge you to participate freely in the discussions, make suggestions and comments and ask questions.

This program is intense and is designed for the mature, above average young adult. We hope that all those attending the seminar will find the material interesting and the sessions challenging. May your participation in the seminar prove to be a valuable experience and provide pleasurable memories for the years ahead.

Code of Conduct

As mature, responsible young people who have been carefully selected, we feel it is unnecessary to have a long and arduous list of rules. With privileges come responsibilities, and how you fulfill those responsibilities determines your level of success throughout life. There should be no need to state rules and regulations that come from good common sense, courtesy, and respect to others. Counselors are here to help direct you in a positive situation and not as babysitters.

Dress for the seminar sessions as you would when you wish to show respect for yourself and those on the program. For safety reasons, private automobiles will not be driven either on or off campus after arrival or prior to departure without special permission from Mr. Tolle. Be in your assigned room with lights out by 12:00 midnight. Common courtesy is expected toward speakers. Attend all functions, be on time and be alert. By honoring these few and simple requests, you will gain the maximum from this conference and assure its continued success.
